

Please do not tamper with Wisconsin's No-Call law. As it is we get many, many mail solicitations for new credit cards. We can just destroy those. A telephone call is something we can't ignore and the banks know this. If we want a credit card or regret ending our relationship with a lender, we will contact them. And if you support the lenders in this, you provide a loophole that other industries will certainly take advantage of and end the protection we now have against unwanted telephone solicitations.
